

Workshop on Lessons from Nargis: Disaster Management in Southeast Asia

(By invitation)

5-6 March 2009

Seminar Room I & II

Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore

The ASEAN Studies Centre together with Southeast Asia Research Centre of the City University of Hong Kong organized the workshop assessing the situation in Myanmar ten months after Cyclone Nargis struck on 2-3 May 2008, paying particular attention to the implications for continued work at local (including grassroots) as well as regional and international levels. The workshop also complemented the ASEAN and UN reports by incorporating grassroots experience and local knowledge to fill important gaps in understanding disaster management/preparedness processes, and some views on lessons to be learnt from this unfortunate experience.
